MASS & PRAYER INTENTIONS

02 APRIL 16, 2023

2ND SUNDAY OF EASTER

Jesus said to him, "Have you come to believe because you have seen me? Blessed are those who have not seen and have believed."
- Jn 20:29

Thomas believed because he saw the risen Jesus. Although we have never seen him, we believe in him. We give thanks to the Lord for this gift of faith, especially when we gather for the breaking of the bread and prayers.

Tomás creyó porque vio a Jesús resucitado. Aunque nunca lo hemos visto, creemos en él. Damos gracias al Señor por este don de la fe, especialmente cuando nos reunimos para la fracción del pan y las oraciones.

(PRACTICING) CATHOLIC

By Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

The Doors We Lock

As a child, and even for a while as a teenager, I experienced an enormous amount of anxiety whenever I went to confession. For so many years I feared it. For so many years I waited in the confession line trembling, feeling sick to my stomach.

In the upper room after Christ's Passion and death, the anxiety of the disciples was so strong that they locked themselves away. But still Christ found a way into their midst. He would not be prevented from bringing mercy and hope to a place shrouded in despair. No door barred in a moment of fear could keep him out.

This is the genius of the sacrament of Reconciliation — and of all sacraments, really. Here we are, restricted in so many ways by an existence that is woefully physical. We feel fear, and our body reacts, just as we feel anger and our body reacts.

How can God deliver mercy to us in this flesh-bound state? Through that very flesh which can feel so confining. Through confession, which requires a physical action, and the physical participation not just of the penitent but of the priest.

I don't know how or why my anxiety around the sacrament has lessened over the years. Sometimes, I still feel it come roaring back unexpectedly, and maybe one day it will come back to stay. It doesn't surprise me: after all, I am in the flesh, and I will, as Peter says today, "suffer through various trials." But in all of them Christ will find me. He will not be kept away.

Let the house of Aaron say, "His mercy endures forever." —
Psalm 118:3

(PRACTICANDO) CATÓLICA

Por Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

Las Puertas que Cerramos

De niña, e incluso durante un tiempo de adolescente, experimentaba una enorme cantidad de ansiedad cada vez que iba a confesarme. Durante muchos años lo temí. Durante muchos años esperé en la fila de la confesión temblando, sintiéndome enferma del estómago.

En el aposento alto después de la Pasión y muerte de Cristo, la ansiedad de los discípulos era tan fuerte que se encerraron. Pero aun así Cristo encontró un camino en medio de ellos. No se le impediría traer misericordia y esperanza a un lugar envuelto en desesperación. Ninguna puerta atrancada en un momento de miedo podría mantenerlo fuera.

Este es el genio del sacramento de la Reconciliación, y de todos los sacramentos, en realidad. Aquí estamos, restringidos de muchas maneras por una existencia lamentablemente física. Sentimos miedo y nuestro cuerpo reacciona, al igual que sentimos ira y nuestro cuerpo reacciona.

¿Cómo puede Dios darnos misericordia en este estado carnal? A través de esa misma carne que puede sentirse tan confinada. A través de la confesión, que requiere una acción física, y la participación física no sólo del penitente sino del sacerdote.

No sé cómo o por qué mi ansiedad en torno al sacramento ha disminuido con los años. A veces, todavía siento que regresa rugiendo inesperadamente, y tal vez algún día regrese para quedarse. No me sorprende: después de todo, estoy en la carne y, como dice Pedro hoy, "sufriré diversas pruebas." Pero en todas ellas Cristo me encontrará. Él no se mantendrá alejado.

Diga la casa de Aarón: "Su misericordia es eterna." – Salmo 118:3
